Serge Gnabry scored four second-half goals as Bayern Munich turned the style on Tottenham Hotspur, the Bundesliga leaders posting a crushing 7-2 win to make it two wins out of two as they begin their UEFA Champions League group stage campaign. Tottenham Hotspur 2-7 Bayern MunichGoals: 1-0 Son (12'), 1-1 Kimmich (15'), 1-2 Lewandowski (45'), 1-3 Gnabry (53'), 1-4 Gnabry (55'), 2-4 Kane (pen. 61'), 2-5 Gnabry (83'), 2-6 Lewandowski (87'), 2-7 Gnabry (88')This match always promised to be the spectacle of Bayern facing off in last season's Champions League second series and did not disappoint. Gnabry and former Bayer Leverkusen striker Heung-min Son both had chances in the first five minutes and Manuel Neuer was initially busier for the two goalkeepers, making decent stops before Son broke the dead end with a sharp shot into the bottom corner. Bayern, however, were level just three minutes later when Joshua Kimmich rifled a stunning shot from long range past Hugo Lloris. From then on, Niko Kovc's men dominated the situation and deservedly took the lead shortly before half-time when Robert Lewandowski showed tremendous composure amid a rush of goal mouths to turn and drill a low shot into the corner. The visitors started the second half after finishing the first and immediately taking the game to their hosts. If Bayern's first two goals had been good, Gnabry took things grumpy on his first night shift, the former Arsenal man drooling to his left before cutting into the middle and sending a sledgehammer shot past Lloris. The Germany international doubled his personal goal just two minutes later on a pass from Corentin Tolisso, but Spurs were given a life line when Harry Kane converted a penalty as Kingsley Coman brought down Danny Rose. The next goal during a period of concrete excitement was always decisive and once again Gnabry rose to the occasion, galloping to receive Tiago's stunning pass before passing the ball past Lloris in style. Lewandowski scored six on Philippe Coutinho's sublime assist in an astonishing final 10 minutes before Gnabry rounded off an unforgettable evening with a bullet from the edge of the box to put Bayern in tight command of Group B with a result that sent shockwaves across Europe.Match statsLewandowski is one goal away from passing Ruud van Nistelrooy for fifth on the all-Champions League goalscoring list.
